

LMS: Enrolling in a Course and Registering for a Seminar

1. In the LMS, a course is the larger container for a learning experience that holds all the content, activities, and resources. You must first enroll in the course before you can register for a specific session/seminar within that course.
2. Log in to your account at <https://learning.coloradocwts.com/login>.
3. Access the catalog from the LMS Home page or use the Find Learning or Future Sessions options from the tab navigation menu.
4. When you find the course you want, click on the course title.
5. Either a new window will open or the page will expand. Check class availability dates prior to enrolling by clicking on BEFORE ENROLLING, click HERE to see if there are open seats available in an upcoming session! If open seats are available, look for the option to enroll, usually an Enroll me or Enroll button, and click on it.

Culturally Humble Casework: Learning from Those You Seek to Help 2022-2023

Target audience: caseworkers, supervisors

BEFORE ENROLLING, click HERE to see if there are open seats in an upcoming session!

The work of diversity, equity, and inclusion is not simple or static, nor should it be minimized to one course. Instead, join this learning experience as one stop on your personal journey. In this two-part virtual seminar, you will explore what it means to be culturally humble in your work, the biases you face both internally and externally, and the responsibility you hold as an agent of change. This course will have you learning into curiosity with yourself, others, and the system in which you work. Take advantage of the opportunity to challenge yourself, and walk away ready to initiate conversations about culture with the children and families you work with or the staff you supervise, and utilize the information you gain by asking and helping the system improve.

Marijuana, Children, and Families

Course Type: Classroom

Recommended Prerequisite: Legalized Marijuana: Considerations for Child Safety, WBT

Classroom Learning Length: 1 day

Training Hours: 6.5 hours

Target audience: caseworkers, supervisors, case aides, and other child welfare professionals

Colorado is one of only a few states in the nation to have enacted laws allowing both medical and recreational marijuana use and cultivation. As our state embarks on this path, it is critical that those of us who work in child welfare be well informed. In order to make the best decisions regarding the safety of and risks to children, we need to understand both the laws and the possible hazards marijuana poses to children. In this classroom course, you'll engage in scenario-based learning and discussion of the complexities inherent in this changed legal landscape. The knowledge and skills you acquire in this learning experience will help guide your decision making in difficult cases and assist in individualized case planning with families to build child safety and promote healthy families. Through this course, you'll start to recognize your own values and beliefs about marijuana, enhance your competencies for responding to challenging situations, and leverage existing knowledge and practice approaches.

The Web-based training Legalized Marijuana: Considerations for Child Safety has foundational information related to this in-person training. We encourage you to complete the WBT prior to class so that you can make the most of your classroom session.
